ADVOCACY.

MEMBERSHIP BENEFITS

IALEIA members receive publications, reduced conferences and training registration fees, networking, professional services awards and scholarship opportunities, mentorship program access, and opportunities to participate in regional chapters. IALEIA holds one international conference each year. Additional seminars, trainings, and meetings are held by individual chapters.

Members receive access to online resources which include the Member Directory, useful links, and job postings.

Intelscope, the IALEIA newsletter, features news from IALEIA's chapters, committees, and members. There are also articles of interest to analysts and information about available trainings.

The Journal of Intelligence & Analysis is an annual professional journal with intelligence analysis and relevant articles. Submissions are welcomed from practitioners and academics.

Individual and corporate membership information, including requirements and dues, can be found on the IALEIA website or by contacting the IALEIA Partnership Director.

RESEARCH.

ADVOCACY

IALEIA advances public and official understanding of intelligence analysis and its role as a profession. Board members regularly represent IALEIA as subject matter experts at international and national meetings.

TRAINING

IALEIA devises concepts, standards, and curricula for training and offers basic analyst training through Foundations of Intelligence Analysis Training (FIAT) for analysts worldwide. We also offer an Advanced Financial Analysis seminar and an Intelligence Management Seminar for Leaders and Managers.

PROFESSIONALISM

Our organization reinforces the concepts of professionalism, dedication to service, and integrity among practitioners of intelligence analysis.

RESEARCH

IALEIA encourages research about intelligence analysis and the analytic process and identifies funding for such research.

CERTIFICATION.

NETWORKING

Regular meetings, trainings and speakers are arranged by the numerous regional IALEIA chapters worldwide. By providing timely, relevant information to members on opportunities and issues affecting the field, IALEIA promotes well-informed career analysts. In addition, IALEIA's website, www.ialeia.org, is available in several languages to facilitate international networking opportunities.

TRAINING.

CERTIFICATION

IALEIA has qualification standards and indices of competence for the profession and administers a professional international certification program. In 1991, IALEIA partnered with the Society of Certified Criminal Analysts (SCCA) to create a certification program for analysts. IALEIA subsequently adopted and assumed full control of the certification process. The IALEIA Certification Program is structured to encourage continuing education, measure knowledge and skills, and recognize excellence through experience.
